Muskegon, MI (May 15, 2019) – One of the country’s top rated show bands, Two For The Show (formerly Roxshow), will take the stage at Taste of Muskegon Saturday night. The Las Vegas-based band features musicians that are former members of such bands as Steppenwolf, Bob Seger, Vixen, and Toto. Two For The Show brings you the music of Bon Jovi and Journey, recreating their most popular tours with incredible attention to detail.

Opening for Two For The Show is Psychotic Paradise, the world’s only female-fronted Tesla tribute band. The Michigan based band will take the crowd back to the 80s with their hair metal rock.

Taste of Muskegon joins Parties in the Park on Friday night, June 14th, with sounds of country rock. Noah Smith, from Brownsville Ohio, has been touring the Midwest with his special blend of Country music and Rock and Roll. Having shared the stage with musicians such as Josh Turner and Steve Miller Band he is quickly becoming known for his American sound. Opening for him will be local bands Whiskey Rebels and Desolation Angels.

“We know that Muskegon loves Country and Classic Rock so that is what we are giving them. Friday night we’ll bring you a band to watch and Saturday we’re blowing up the park with high-energy bands singing your favorite hits.” Ann Meisch, Director of Taste of Muskegon.

Taste of Muskegon Presented by Santa Cruz and truRoots, produced by the City of Muskegon, will take place on June 14th and 15th in Hackley Park. It joins Parties in the Park Friday night and will feature the West Michigan Offshore Club Powerboat Street Party as part of Powerboat weekend. Saturday will begin with Ride United and feature many kid-friendly activities. Awards for Taste of Muskegon’s best plates will take place Saturday afternoon and includes both judge and public votes.
